Program Goals

This program has been designed to provide infection preventionists, nursing leaders, public health specialists, and leaders of quality improvement with evidence-based strategies to prevent and manage healthcare associated infections in the Evolving Landscape of Infection Prevention.

Program Objectives

At the completion of the program, the participants will be able to:

- Describe the use of proactive approaches to making change happen.
- Critique the use of molecular epidemiology software to detect outbreak transmission.
- Compare successful outbreak management strategies.
- Discuss harnessing the power of data to improve clinical and economic outcomes.
- Implement strategies to prepare for the future of infection prevention.

This continuing nursing education activity was submitted for approval to the Northeast Multi-State Division, an accredited approver by the American Nurses Credentialing Center's Commission on Accreditation.
